

Proportion of young population 15-24 years

The young population aged 15-24 years was found to constitute 19.1 percent of the total population of Tanzania. Variations of the proportions of the young population aged 15-24 years among the regions range between 15.8 percent observed in Lindi Region and Dar es Salaam (23.8 percent). Lindi and Mtwara recorded the lowest proportions of the population aged 15-24 (15.8 percent and 16.0 percent, respectively) while Dar es Salaam (23.8 percent) and Mjini Magharibi (21.3 percent), predominantly urban, recorded the highest proportion of their population.