

Proportion of high level secondary education age (18-19 years)

The proportion of the population age between 18 and 19 refers to the population which is expected to be attending secondary education. The national figure of 4.1 percent which was observed in the 2015 PHC is the proportion of the population which refers to the segment of the population in higher level of secondary education. Dar es Salaam was found to have the highest proportion of the population aged between 18 and 19 years (5.0 percent). Other regions which had slightly high proportions include all regions of Tanzania Zanzibar, namely Kaskazini Unguja, Mjini Magharibi, Kaskazini Pemba and Kusini Pemba (4.5 percent).