

Proportion of secondary education age (14-17 years)

The proportion of the population age between 14 and 17 refers to the population which is expected to be attending secondary education. The national figure of 8.5 percent which was observed in the 2015 PHC is the proportion of the population which refers to the segment of the population in secondary education. Kilimanjaro and Kusini Pemba recorded the highest proportion of the population (9.6 percent each), followed by Kaskazini Pemba (9.4 percent) and Arusha, Iringa, njombe and Simiyu (9.0 percent). However, some regions recorded low proportions of the population aged between 14 and 17 years. Such regions are Lindi and Mtwara (7.2 percent), Pwani (7.9 percent) and Kusini Unguja (8.0 percent). The remaining regions recorded proportions between 8.1 percent and 8.9 percent.