FOREWORD

Employment and Earning Surveys are a series of annual surveys being conducted in Tanzania Mainland by the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) since 1963. However, the conduct of surveys has not been maintained over the entire period due to various problems, the most important being lack of funds. This report presents survey results for the period 2005 to 2007.

The main objective of these surveys is to get statistical information on employment and earnings for planning and policy making purposes. This report is the only source of regional information which gives the number of employees and the distribution of income in both public and private formal sectors of employment.

The success of this survey depends much on the cooperation and contribution of many organizations and individuals during its implementation. Special thanks should go to the members of staff from the Department of Labour and Price Statistics, Department of Statistical Methods and Standards, Department of Field Operations, particularly the Central Register of Establishments (CRE) unit and the Regional Statistical Offices for their hard work and dedication to the success of the survey.

Lastly, but not least, I wish to express my gratitude to employers and all our stakeholders who supplied the requested information during the survey operation.

NBS looks forward for your continued cooperation in the coming surveys.

Dr. Albina A. Chuwa
Director General
National Bureau of Statistics

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This Report presents the results of Employment and Earnings Survey conducted over a three year period from 2005 to 2007. Though some comparisons can be made with the previous surveys, the three surveys of 2005, 2006 and 2007 are based on a methodology which is slightly different.

The publication consists of six sections, namely; Introduction, Employment Profile, Wage Rates Profile, Cash Earnings Profile, Annual Wage Bills Profile and Appendices. In this report, emphasis has been put on the presentation of the survey results as well as the methodology adopted in data collection, sample design as well as data processing. However, questions in the survey questionnaire have captured information as presented in the above-mentioned sections.

Employment Profile

- ❖ A total of 1,163,427 persons were employed in both private and public sectors during 2007 as compared to 1,085,242 and 1,024,340 persons employed in 2006 and 2005 respectively.
- ❖ About 54.2 percent of the total persons employed in 2007 were employed in private sector and 45.8 percent were employed in public sector. On the other hand, 65.5 percent were adult males and 34.3 percent were adult females while 0.2 percent were young persons.
- ❖ In 2007, casual workers constituted 22.4 percent while in 2006 and 2005 they were 25.2 and 21.1 percent respectively.
- ❖ Public administration and compulsory social security industry had the highest percentage of employees in each reference year as follows; 2007 (32.6 percent), 2006 (28.2 percent) and 2005 (36.0 percent) while extra-territorial organizations and bodies had the lowest percentages (less than one percent) in each reference year.
- ❖ Dar es Salaam region had the highest percentage of employees in each reference year as follows; 2007 (27.8 percent), 2006 (22.4 percent) and 2005 (25.9 percent).

Wage Rates Profile

- ❖ In 2007, most of the lowly paid employees that are receiving wage rates below Tshs. 70,000 were in the private sector. These constituted 85.7 percent of the lowly paid employees.

- ❖ The majority of adult citizen employees, both males and females, earned between Tshs. 70,000 and Tshs. 269,999 as wages over the three year period with 2005 (63.6 percent), 2006 (59.4 percent) and 2007 (58.9 percent).

Cash Earnings Profile

- ❖ The respective percentage shares of private and public sectors' were 45.8 and 54.2 in 2007 while the shares in 2006 were 45.0 and 55.0 and in 2005 they were 50.8 and 49.2.
- ❖ Most of the cash earnings were received by male employees in the following sequence; 2007 (67.5 percent), 2006 (67.9 percent) and 2005 (67.3 percent).
- ❖ The Public Administration and Compulsory Social Security industry received the highest earnings as follows; 2007 (33.0 percent), 2006 (30.9 percent) and 2005 (33.5 percent) of the total annual cash earnings.
- ❖ With regard to regions, Dar es Salaam had the highest annual cash earnings in each reference years as follows: 2007 (30.2 percent), 2006 (34.9 percent) and 2005 (39.6 percent) of the total annual cash earnings.

Annual Wage Bills Profile

- ❖ The wage bill composition in 2007 shows that, public sector accounted for a slightly higher share (54.3 percent) as compared to private sector (45.7 percent). The pattern was similar in 2006 with a share of 55.1 percent for public sector and 44.9 percent for private sector, while in 2005, the public sector share was 49.2 percent and that of the private sector was 50.8 percent.
- ❖ The public sector provided more than two thirds (68.4 percent) of the total free ration in 2007 as compared to the private sector which provided 31.6 percent only. The same trend of higher share on free ration by the public sector was also experienced in 2006 where its share was 73.8 percent and in 2005 its share was 51.2 percent of the total free ration.
- ❖ In 2007, the Public Administration and Compulsory Social Security industry recorded the highest annual wage bill with a share of 33.1 percent followed by Manufacturing (13.3 percent) and both Health and Social Work and Education industries, each with a share of 7.5 percent of the total annual wage bill.

- ❖ Dar es Salaam region provided the largest share of the total annual wage bill over the three year survey period. The region had a share of 39.7 percent in 2007, a share of 35.0 percent in 2006 and share of 30.2 percent in 2005 while Lindi and Manyara regions contributed the least share of 1.1 and 1.2 percent respectively in 2007.

CHAPTER ONE

METHODOLOGY

1.1 Introduction

The Employment and Earnings Survey, is an annual survey conducted by the National Bureau of Statistics. The enumeration covers three main categories of employing establishments in both private and public sectors. The categories involved are: all establishments in the public sector; all registered private establishments employing at least 50 persons; and a sample of all registered private establishments whose employment capacity was between 5 to 49 persons in Tanzania Mainland. The survey does not include domestic servants in private households, non-salaried working proprietors and non-salaried family workers.

Therefore, the Employment and Earnings Survey conducted in 2007 was based on a combination of both complete and sample enumeration approach. The sampling approach was adopted to minimize cost and time.

1.2 Objective of the Survey

The broad objective of the Employment and Earnings Survey 2007, was to obtain comprehensive data on the annual status of Employment and Earnings as well as data on the socio-economic characteristics of the Labour Market.

1.3 Concepts and Definitions

1.3.1 Scope

The term scope as far as Employment and Earnings Survey is concerned, refers to the description of the type of establishments and geographical areas that were covered by the survey, in accordance with the International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC) Rev. 3.

1.3.2 Employee

The term Employee refers to all Wage Earners and Salaried employees whether engaged full-time, part-time or casually as on the last full working day of June.

1.3.3 Regular Employee

The term Regular Employee refers to all permanent and temporary employees who have been employed on a weekly or monthly basis for more than one month.

1.3.4 Casual Workers

The term Casual Workers refers to all persons receiving daily wages and other employees who have not worked for the full month of June.

1.3.5 Young Persons

The term Young Persons, for the purpose of this survey, refers to all persons under the apparent age of 18 years.

1.3.6 Wage Rate

The term Wage Rate refers to the basic agreed rate of pay for normal time of work and relates to a time-unit such as hour, day, week or month before any deductions are made.

1.3.7 Cash Earnings

The term Cash Earnings refers to the remuneration in cash paid to employees, for time worked or work done before any deductions are made, such as employers' contribution to social security fund or pension. They include payment for time not worked such as annual vacation and other paid leave, other guaranteed and regular paid allowances, payment for overtime work and house-rent paid directly by employer.

1.3.8 Annual Wage-Bill

The terms Annual Wage Bill comprise gross cash remunerations accrued as earnings of employees and actual cost of free ration paid by employers in respect of their employees. They represent workers claim for furnishing labour for the production of goods or services on behalf of the employer. The wage bill does not include such non-cash benefits as pensions and passages.

1.4 Types of Benefits Involved in the Survey

Employers were required to supply information on the number of employees who received the respective benefits and the amount of cash paid as a net cost to employer for those benefits. The following are the various types of benefits incorporated in the Questionnaire: -

1.4.1 Free Housing

The term Free Housing, refers to the employer's housing facilities furnished and given to employees free of charge or the amount of cash the employer pays to employees as housing allowances.

1.4.2 Paid Leave

The term Paid Leave refers to the total number of person-days and total value concerning different categories of normal paid leaves.

1.4.3 Maternity Leave

The term Maternity Leave refers to the total number of person-days and their total value in terms of Tshs. granted to female employees after delivery.

1.4.4 Free Ration

The term Free Ration refers to the employer's meals facilities supplied to employees free of charge or the amount of cash the employer paid to employees as meals allowances.

1.4.5 Social Security Fund

The term Social Security Fund refers to the contributions by the employer to the National Social Security Fund (NSSF), Parastatal Pension Fund (PPF) and other schemes of this nature organized by the establishment for the benefit of employees.

1.5 Sector Classification

The Labour economy is divided into two principal sections which are Public and Private Sectors. These two principal sections in turn are sub-divided as follows: -

1.5.1 Public Sector

- i). The Central and Local Government
- ii). Parastatal Organization Institutions

1.5.2 Private Sector

- i). Profit Making Private Establishments
- ii). Non-Profit Making Private Establishments
- iii). Co-operative Establishments

1.6 Industrial Classification

The Tanzania Standard Industrial Classification is based on the U. N. International Standard Classification of all Economic Activities (ISIC) Revision Three modified to suit circumstances peculiar to Tanzania. Establishments engaged in several activities were classified under the industrial activity in which the majority of workers were employed. The Government technical services were allocated as far as possible to the industry of the employing department. The major industrial divisions are nine according to the ISIC Revision Three as follows:-

1.6.1 Agriculture

The term Agriculture includes all establishments engaged primarily in crop husbandry, livestock, forestry or fishing including estates engaged in both growing and processing crops such as sisal or sugar. Agricultural, forestry and game propagation services (not veterinary services that are included in community) provided by public services are also included in this industry.

1.6.2 Mining and Quarrying

The term Mining and Quarrying includes all establishments engaged in mining, alluvial digging and quarrying.

1.6.3 Manufacturing

The term Manufacturing includes all establishments engaged in the production, making, assembling or repair of any article or thing but excluding agricultural processing activities undertaken on estates. Thus coffee growing and pulping, wattle growing up to the extraction of barks, sugar cane growing with the processing of jaggery by simple methods, tea growing up to the harvest and drying of leaves, sisal growing with the decortications of leaves are excluded but further processing of these products are included.

1.6.4 Public Utilities

The term Public Utilities includes all establishments engaged in the production and supply of electricity, gas and water engineering services.

1.6.5 Construction

The term Construction includes all establishments engaged in construction, repair and maintenance of roads, buildings and other works.

1.6.6 Commerce

The term Commerce includes all establishments engaged in the wholesale and retail trade activities, co-operative marketing, restaurants and hotels.

1.6.7 Transport and Communications

The term Transport and Communications includes all establishments engaged in stevedoring, clearing and forwarding, land, water and air transport as well as storing and warehousing allied to transport.

1.6.8 Finance

The term Finance includes all establishments engaged in banking, insurance, bureau de change, real estates and business services like advocating, accounting, auditing, data processing etc.

1.6.9 Community Services

The term Community Services is a broad industry, which includes all establishments providing educational, health, veterinary, religious, recreational and cultural, personal, households and other related services, public administration, research and scientific institutions, social welfare institutions as well as business, professional and labour associations.

1.7 Survey Methodology and Estimation Procedure

1.7.1 The Selection of Establishments

The Employment and Earnings Survey of 2007 used the existing Central Register of Establishments (CRE) frame developed by the National Bureau of Statistics. The selection of establishments from the CRE frame falls under the following groups: -

- i). All establishments of public sector found in the CRE frame of 2007 were taken.
- ii). All establishments of private sector with at least 50 employees found in the CRE frame of 2007 were taken.
- iii). The list of surveyed establishments of private sector employing persons in the range of 5 to 49 was based on a sample.

1.7.2 The Sample Design

A sample of 10 percent of establishments was selected in the employment size group of 5 to 9 employees. A sample of 33 percent of establishments was selected in the employment size group of 10 to 49 employees. A random sampling method was used to select the number of establishments to be enumerated according to the sample size in each employment group.

The number of selected establishments is shown in Table 1.1 below:-

Table 1.1: Number of Sampled Private Sector Establishments in 5 – 49 Category, 2007

S/No.	Sector	Number of Establishments
		Employment Size 5-9	Employment Size 10-49	Overall
1	Profit Making Enterprises	557	1204	1761
2	Non-Profit Making Enterprises	162	309	471
3	Cooperatives	54	114	168
Total Establishments		773	1627	2400

The overall number selected and establishments involved in the Employment and Earnings Survey for both private and public sectors is shown in Table 1.2 below:

Table 1.2: Number of All and Sampled Establishments, 2007

S/No.	Sector	Employment Size Groups	Number of Establishments
			Total	Sampled
1	Private Sector	05-09	7,762	773
2	Private Sector	10 – 49	5,267	1627
3	Private Sector	50+	1,080	1,080
4	Public Sector	All	5,021	5,021
Total			19,130	8,501

During the enumeration process, enumerators were instructed to include in the survey, all the new establishments in the public sector and those employing at least 50 persons in the private sector that will be identified in the field but were not included in the provided list of establishments prepared for the survey from the CRE frame of 2006.

1.7.3 The Response Status

The list of establishments prepared for the survey was not exhaustive in both private and public sectors. Among those establishments drawn from the CRE frame, there were some duplicates as well as those closed down and other establishments that were operating but were not in the list. All the duplicates and closed down establishments were eliminated from the list. All the new establishments that qualified for the enumeration were added to the list to form a new list in the sample, which then formed the operating establishments.

As mentioned above, the list of establishments for data collection consisted of two main groups. The first group comprised of establishments involved in complete enumeration procedure that included all in the public sector and the list of all private sector establishments employing at least 50 persons. The second group was the sampled establishments that included establishments of private sector with employment size of 5 to 49 persons.

As seen from Table 1.3 below, it is observed that, responses for the Public sector establishments were very low (62 percent) compared to any other category. After analysis, it was observed that the low response was partly caused by many regional office organizations being centralized at the headquarter (most of them in Dar es Salaam) and so, the data were to be collected at the headquarter and non-vigorous follow up during data collection was observed to be another reason for the low response.

Table 1.3: Number of Responding Establishments and Response Rate, 2007

S/No.	Sector	Employ. Size	Number of Establishments			Response Rate
			Original List	Updated List	Response
1	Private Sector	5 - 9	773	661	470	71
2	Private Sector	10 – 49	1627	1296	888	69
3	Private Sector	50+	1,080	927	602	65
4	Public Sector	All	5,021	4905	3017	62
Total			8,501	7,789	4,977	64

1.7.4 Estimation of the Non-Response

All establishments that were proved to be in operation during the survey reference year but could not respond at the end of data collection had their information estimated through various procedures. The substitution method was used for the establishments falling under the complete enumeration category while the estimation in the sampled establishments was dealt with differently.

Estimation in the sampled establishments was based on the established sampling weights. The weights were adjusted to suit the response status of the category of employment involved in the respective region.

The sampling weights for the strata were calculated by using the simple expansion method denoted as:-

$$\text{Weight} = N/n$$

Where: N = Total number of establishments before sampling

n = Total number of establishments sampled.

In the situation where non responding establishments exist, like in the previous surveys, to account for the non-response, the weights for each cell has been expressed as:-

Where:  $N_{hij}$  = Total number of establishments before sampling in sector j of region i in stratum h

Where:  $j = 1 \dots 3$ ,  $i = 1 \dots 21$  and  $h =$  either employment size 5-9 or employment size 10-49

$n_{hij}$  = Total number of establishments after sampling in sector j of region i in Stratum h

Where:  $j = 1 \dots 3$ ,  $i = 1 \dots 21$  and  $h =$  either employment size 5-9 or employment size 10-49

$\alpha_{hij}$  = Non-responding establishments in sector j of region i in Stratum h

Where:  $j = 1 \dots 3$ ,  $i = 1 \dots 21$  and  $h =$  either employment size 5-9 or employment size 10-49

h = Stratum (the survey dealt with two strata)

i = Region (the survey dealt with 21 regions)

j = Private sector (the survey dealt with three sub sectors)

Estimation of the Population Totals is given by

$$\hat{Y}_{hij} = \beta_{hij} * \frac{N_{hij} \left[ 1 - \frac{\alpha_{hij}}{n_{hij}} \right]}{n_{hij} - \alpha_{hij}}$$

Where:  $\beta_{hij}$  = Responded establishments in sector j of region i in Stratum h

Where:  $j = 1 \dots 3$ ,  $i = 1 \dots 21$  and  $h =$  either 5 – 9 or 10 -49

CHAPTER TWO

EMPLOYMENT PROFILE

2.0 Introduction

This chapter focuses on the Regular and Casual Employees, their major sectors of employment, industry, citizenship, gender and employment by region. The chapter also discusses findings on the young employment for persons who are below 18 years. The industrial sector is classified using codes of the International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC) Rev.3 of all economic activities.

Table 2.3 shows that the Public Administration and Defense, Compulsory Social Security industry employed more persons than any other industry over the reference years (2005-2007). However, the distribution of total employment by industry was almost similar in each year of the reference period. In 2007, a higher proportion of regular employment was in the Public Administration and Defense, Compulsory Social Security industry with 40.7 percent while casual employees accounted for only 4.9 percent of the total employment.

Manufacturing was the second major industry of employment in the reference period 2005-2007. In 2007, the industry employed 19.9 percent of the total employment with most of them (46.4 percent) employed as casual workers and 12.3 percent as regular employees. Agriculture, Hunting and Forestry industry was the third formal sector with higher proportion of casual employment of 19.9 percent in 2005, 35.4 percent in 2006 and 21.5 percent in 2007. Extra-territorial Organizations and Bodies, Fishing, Gas and Water Supply, Electricity and Mining and Quarrying industries had smaller numbers of employed persons than other industries.

Table 2.4 shows the distribution of total employment by industry and major sectors of employment. It reveals that, most of the employees in the Public administration and defense, compulsory Social Security industry were in the public sector with 33.8 percent in 2005, 28.3 percent in 2006 and 31.1 percent in 2007. On the contrary, most of the employees in the manufacturing industry were in private sector with 19.2 percent in 2005, 18.1 percent in 2006 and 19.3 percent in 2007.

A similar pattern is also observed in Electricity, Gas and Water Supply industry where most of the employees were in the public sector while in Agriculture, Hunting and Forestry; Wholesale and Retail Trade; Repair of Motor Vehicles, Motorcycles and Personal and Household Goods; Hotels and Restaurants were in the private sector.

Table 2.8 shows that, there were more males employed in the public sector than females from year 2005 to 2007. The trend of males employed in the public sector in all regions from 2005 to 2007 was 61.4 percent, 63.3 percent and 65.5 percent respectively. Also, Dar es Salaam region had the highest share of the employed persons in the public sector in the same period.

CHAPTER THREE

WAGE RATES PROFILE

The term Wage Rate refers to the basic agreed rate of pay for normal time of work and relates to a time-unit such as hour, day, week or month before any deductions are made.

Tables in this section give data on wage rates of employees for the period in 2005 to 2007.

3.1 Wage Rates by Sector

Table 3.1: Percentage Distribution of Adult Citizens by Sector and Wage Rate, 2005-2007

Wage Rate (TShs.)	2005				2006				2007
	Private	Public	Total	Total Persons	Private	Public	Total	Total Persons	Private	Public	Total	Total Persons

Table 3.1 above shows that, over the three year period, most of the private sector employees received low wages (below TShs.70,000), as follows: in 2005 (82.6 percent), 2006 (77.5 percent) and 2007 (85.7 percent). More details on the distribution of wage rates of adult citizens are given in Table 3.1 above.

3.2 Wage Rates by Sex

Table 3. 2: Percentage Distribution of Adult Citizens by Wage Rate and Sex, 2005-2007

Wage Rate (TShs.)	2005			2006			2007

Table 3.2 above shows that, the majority of employees (males and females) earned wages between 70,000 Tshs. and 269,999 Tshs. in each reference year. The results also reveal that, wage rates were inversely proportional to the number of employees; meaning that, there were fewer employees who earned wages of 270,000 Tshs. and above.

Table 3.3: Percentage Distribution of Adult Citizens by Wage Rate, Sector and Sex, 2005-2007

Table 3.3 shows that, nearly 3 out of 10 employees in the public sector received wages below TShs.109, 999. However, comparison by gender shows that, the proportions of females in the lowest wage cluster were higher (35.8 percent in 2005, 33.3 percent in 2006 and 28.9 percent in 2007) as compared to their male counterparts with (32.4 percent in 2005, 32.9 percent in 2006 and 22.8 percent in 2007).

In private sector, nearly 6 out of 10 employees received wages below TShs.109,999. The same situation is observed where higher proportions of the females earned lower wages (66.4 percent in 2005, 67.2 percent in 2006 and 62.6 percent in 2007) as compared to males with (62.6 percent in 2005, 60.1 percent in 2006 and 63.2 percent in 2007).

Similar proportions of employees who received wages of TShs.390, 000 or more existed in both private and public sectors, although the public sector recorded slightly higher proportions of employees who earned TShs.390, 000 or more compared to private sector in each reference year.

On the other hand, nearly 6 out of 10 public sector employees earned wages between TShs.110, 000 to TShs.389, 999 while only 3 out of 10 of the total employees earned this amount.

Table 3.4 shows that, Public Administration and Defense, Compulsory Social Security was a dominant industry which employed the highest proportion of employees in all wage clusters. Higher proportions were also revealed for employees who earned between TShs.110,000 and TShs.390,000 (59.6 percent in 2005, 49.8 percent in 2006 and 58.7 percent in 2007).

Agriculture, Hunting and Forestry industry which employs the majority of Tanzanians had the highest proportion of employees who received wages below TShs.110,000 per month (7.7 percent in 2005, 10.0 percent in 2006 and 11.0 percent in 2007) as compared to those who earned TShs.390,000 and above (0.8 percent in 2005, 1.0 percent in 2006 and 1.1 percent in 2007).

Low wages were also observed in Manufacturing, Hotels and Restaurants where higher proportions of employees earned wages of less than TShs.110, 000 a month compared to other industries.

Table 3.5 shows the distribution of wage rates by region in three years 2005, 2006 and 2007. The results show that, approximately a quarter (24.5 percent) of all the employees who earned less than TShs.110,000 were in Dar es Salaam region. Wages below TShs.110,000 were characteristic in small scale industrial activities most of which were concentrated in Dar es Salaam.

There is a small increase in the proportion of employees receiving wages less than 110,000 in 2006 (27.4 percent) as compared to 2005 (24.5 percent) for Dar es Salaam region.

There was an increase in the proportion of employees who received wages in the range of 110,000-TShs.349,000 from 2005 (24.8 percent) to 30.5 percent in 2007 for Dar es Salaam region, the same pattern was also observed in the proportion of employees who earned TShs.350,000 or more.

There were no significant changes in the distribution of employees by their wage rates in other regions apart from Dar es Salaam.

CHAPTER FOUR

4.0 Introduction

Cash earning is the total amount of money paid to employees before deductions such as tax, house rent, loan repayment etc. Cash earning is one of the major indicators collected in the survey of Employment and Earnings. This chapter describes in detail the total cash earnings of regular and casual employees in both private and public sector in Tanzania Mainland in 2007. Data for 2005 and 2006 are used for comparison.

4.1 Cash Earnings by Sector

Table 4.1: Total Annual Earnings (Tshs. million) by Sector, 2005-2007

Sector	2005	2006	2007
Private	1,310,657	1,517,551	1,586,671
Public	1,269,129	1,851,322	1,875,266
Total	2,579,786	3,368,873	3,461,937

Table 4.1 shows that, the total annual cash earnings for the year 2007 increased by 2.8 percent from 2006. The increase was a result of a 4.6 percent increase in the private sector and a 1.3 percent increase in the public sector. The findings in 2007 indicate that the total cash earnings in the public sector were much higher in comparison with the private sector.

Table 4.2: Monthly Average Earnings (TShs.) by Broad Sector and Sex, 2005-2007

Sector	2005			2006			2007
	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total	Male	Female	Total
Private	271,535	195,328	253,533	273,21	231,79	267,26	252,466	214,389	242,857
Public	347,640	248,975	336,281	759,66	426,28	573,55	665,919	360,720	554,090
Total	309,587	222,152	294,907	577,246	353,351	458,692	510,874	305,846	437,378

Table 4.2 above shows that, monthly average earnings for the employees in private and public sectors slightly decreased from TShs.458,692 in 2006 to TShs.437,378 in 2007; a decrease of about 4.6 percent. On the other hand, an increase of about 17 percent was realized from 2005 to 2006.

Furthermore, the findings indicate that, the monthly average earning of public sector employees was approximately twice that of the private sector employees. Conversely, the average monthly income for male employees was almost twice that of female employees.

4.2 Cash Earnings by Broad Sector

Total	2,579,786	3,368,873	3,461,937

Table 4.3 shows the total cash earnings of all employees by sector. The findings show that in 2007, the Central and Local Government sub-sector had the highest cash earnings amounting to TShs. 1,510,812 million followed by Private Profit Making Institutions (TShs.1,332,574 million) and Cooperatives (TShs.16,393 million).

Table 4.4: Total Annual Cash Earnings (TShs. million) by Sector and Terms of Employment, 2005 -2007

Table 4.4 shows that, the total annual cash earnings for the regular employees was greater than the total earnings for the casual employees for both private and public sectors. The results show that, casual employees earned only about five percent of the regular employee's earnings. Earnings of regular employees in the public sector have increased by 0.6 percent while earnings in the private sector increased by 3.9 percent. The higher cash earnings for regular employees were partly due to the larger number of regular employees (849,439) compared to casual employees (262,776). Another reason for the highest cash earnings for regular employees could be due to the highest monthly average earnings in the regular employees category (TShs.294,556) compared to casual employee's monthly average earning of TShs.56,539.

Table 4.5 shows total annual cash earnings of adult citizens in Tanzania Mainland. The total annual cash earnings for the adult citizens have increased by 1.9 percent from 2006 to 2007. Similarly, the total cash earnings of the private sector have increased by 2.8 percent while in the public sector there was only 1.3 percent increase. The findings further revealed that, total cash earnings for the adult citizens in the public sector was higher (TShs.1, 870,542 million) compared to (TShs.1, 477,822 million) in the private sector.

The results also show that, in both sectors, cash earnings for male were approximately twice as much compared to their female counterparts. Furthermore, the findings show that, employees in the Central and Local Government had the highest cash earnings followed by employees in the Private Profit Making Institutions and the Parastatal Organizations.

Table 4.6 shows the distribution of total annual cash earnings of all employees by industry, Major Division. The results indicated that in 2007, employees in the Public Administration and Compulsory Social Security industry had the highest cash earning equivalent to 33 percent of the total annual cash earnings. Manufacturing constituted 13.4 percent of the total annual cash earnings followed by Health and Social Work (7.6 percent). The findings further indicate that, the higher the total number of employees, the higher the total cash earnings.

Table 4.7 shows that, the total cash earnings for regular employees were greater than the total cash earnings for casual employees in all industries. In 2007, three major industries with higher cash earnings for the regular employees included; the Public Administration and Compulsory Social Security (TShs.1, 128,959 million), followed by Manufacturing (Tshs. 378,487 million) and Health and Social Work (TShs.259, 095 million). However, for the casual employees, Manufacturing industry had the largest share of the cash earnings amounting to TShs.85, 108 million followed by Agriculture, Hunting and Forestry (TShs.25, 151 million) and Construction (TShs.12, 884 million).

CHAPTER FIVE

ANNUAL WAGE BILL PROFILE

5.0 Introduction

The Annual Wage Bill of the Employment and Earnings Survey, 2007 is comprised of gross cash remunerations accrued as earnings of employees and actual cost of free rations paid by employers in respect of their employees. Generally, the data represent workers claims for furnishing labour for the production of goods or services on behalf of the employer.

This chapter puts more emphasis on the cost of free rations in various sectors and industries.

Table 5.1 gives the total annual wage bill in the period 2006 to 2007. The results show that in 2007, the total wage bill was TShs.3, 488,391 million; out of which, TShs.3, 461,938 million was from cash earnings. The free rations accounted for 0.8 percent of the total annual wage bill. The highest proportion (1.1 percent) of free rations was recorded by the Central and Local Government sub-sector. The same situation was observed in 2005 and 2006 whereby the highest proportion in each year was 1.1 percent in the Central and Local Government sub-sector.

The trends of the wage bill from 2005 to 2007 show a drastic increase; from 2005 to 2006 with an increase of 30.9 percent while from 2006 to 2007 there was a slight increase of 2.8 percent as shown in figure 5.1 above.

Table 5.4 gives regional differentials in the wage bill. The results showed that in 2007, Dar es Salaam Region provided the largest share (39.7 percent) while Lindi and Manyara regions contributed the smallest share of 1.1 percent and 1.2 percent respectively. Other regional differentials for the annual wage bills by the same categories are given in the bar charts from figure 5.2 to figure 5.4 below.

The largest proportions of free rations were provided in Rukwa (1.5 percent) followed by Dodoma (1.4 percent). Although Dar es Salaam provided about 57.1 percent of the overall value of free rations in the country, the proportion of free rations accounted for only 1.1 percent.

Comparing the trends of regional annual wage bills for the period 2005 to 2006, the pattern shows the same direction in the sense that, Dar es Salaam region continued to provide the largest share of the total annual wage bill with 30.2 and 35.0 percent respectively as revealed in Figures 5.3 and 5.4 below.

The regions which recorded the largest proportions of free rations are Kigoma (1.7 percent) in 2006 and Arusha (1.4 percent) in 2005. Although, Dar es Salaam provided the largest overall value of free rations in both 2006 and 2005 with percentages of 47.0 and 28.3 respectively, the proportion of free rations were 1.1 percent and 0.5 percent respectively.

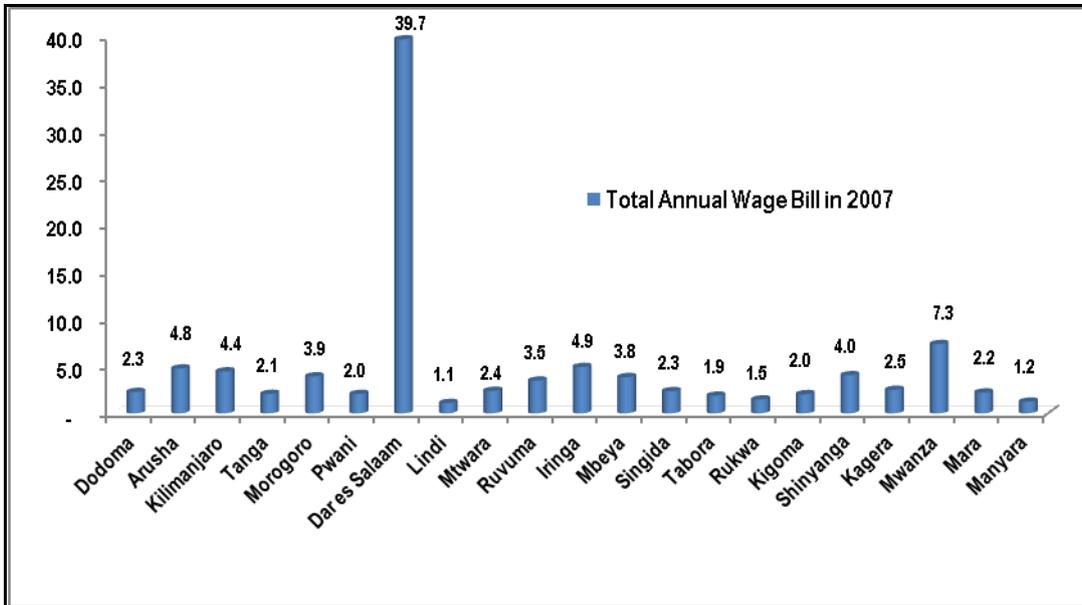

Figure 5.2 shows that, Dar es Salaam region have the largest share (39.7 percent) in 2007 while Lindi and Manyara regions contributed the smallest shares of 1.1 percent and 1.2 percent respectively.

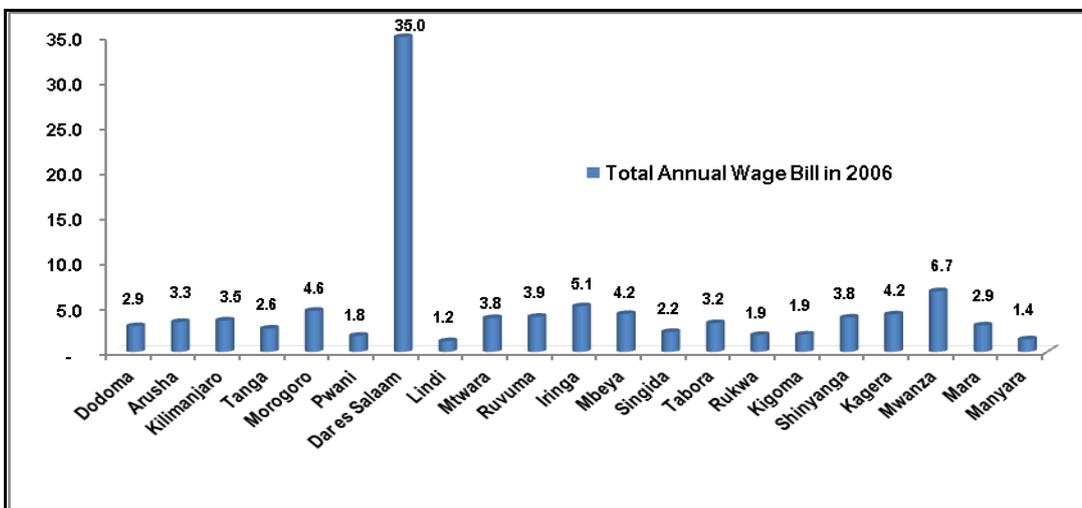

Figure 5.3 show that, Dar es Salaam Region provided the largest share (35.0 percent) in 2006 while Lindi and Manyara regions contributed the smallest shares of 1.2 percent and 1.4 percent respectively.

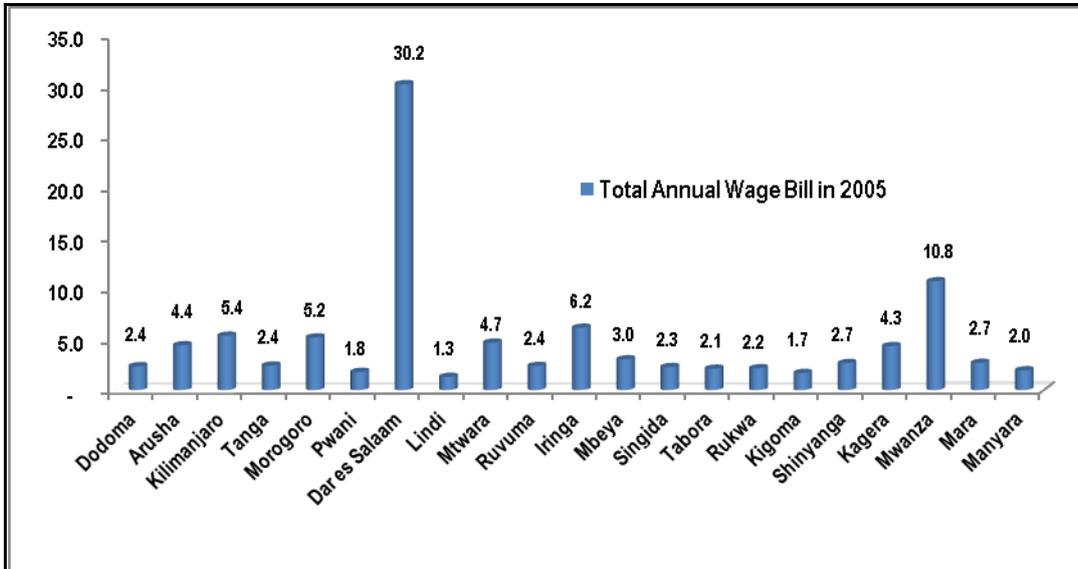

Figure 5.4 shows that, Dar es Salaam Region provided the largest share (30.2 percent) in 2005 while Lindi region contributed the smallest shares of 1.3 percent only.
